Fulbright Cultural Exchange	http://exchanges.state.gov/education/fulbright/	The Fulbright Program provides grants for Graduate Students, Scholars and Professionals, and Teachers and Administrators from the U.S. and other countries. Selection is made on the basis of the applicant's academic or professional record, language preparation, the feasibility of the proposed study project, personal qualifications and preference factors as established by the FSB and Fulbright Commissions/Foundation
Gallaudet University Alumni Association: Doctoral Fellowships	http://depts.gallaudet.edu/alumni/gff.html	No restrictions are placed upon eligibility because of race, color, sex, creed, or nationality. In cases of equal qualification, preference is given to applicants who are citizens of the United States. To qualify for a fellowship, the following criteria must be met: 1. Hearing. The fellowships are intended for deaf or hard of hearing students. Audiological assessment comparable to that required for admission to the Gallaudet University undergraduate program may be the qualifying factor in this respect. The assessment should not be more than three years old. 2. Education. The minimum educational criterion will be admission to an accredited graduate program. 3. Program of Study. The applicant must have been accepted in an accredited graduate program in a college or university. A letter to that effect from the college or university must be supplied with the application. 4. Preference shall be given, to the extent practicable, to applicants who possess a master's degree or the equivalent and are seeking a doctorate.
GEM Fellowship Programs	http://www.edopp.mtu.edu/outreach/scholarships/gemfellow.htm	Candidates for participation in these programs are selected from the following under-represented ethnic minority groups: African American, Mexican American, Native American Indian, Puerto Rican American and other Hispanic Americans. George J. Mitchell Scholarship	www.mitchellscholar.org	Scholars are eligible to attend institutions of higher learning in Ireland, including the seven universities in the Republic of Ireland and the two universities in Northern Ireland, for one academic year of graduate study. As institutional balance will be a factor, an applicant's likelihood of being selected is significantly increased if the applicant expresses a willingness to attend more than one of the eligible institutions. Already being enrolled or admitted at an Irish university does not preclude the importance of designating more than one institutional preference. Prospective Scholars must have a demonstrated record of intellectual distinction, leadership, and extra-curricular activity, as well as personal characteristics of honesty, integrity, fairness, and unselfish service to others which indicate a potential for future leadership and contribution to society. There are no restrictions as to academic field of study although the proposed course of study must be available at the university elected by the applicant and the applicant's undergraduate program must provide sufficient basis for study in the proposed field.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens or nationals, or permanent resident aliens of the United States. Fellowships are intended for individuals in the early stages of their graduate study. In most cases, an individual has three opportunities to apply: during the senior year of college, the first year of graduate school, and the beginning of the second year of graduate school.
National Science Foundation: Overview of Grants and Awards	http://www.nsf.gov/home/grants.htm	The Karla Scherer Foundation exclusively offers one type of scholarship. It is made available to female students majoring only in Finance or Economics with plans for a corporate business career in the private sector. Please note that it is not available beyond this very narrow focus. Academic majors such as accounting, information management systems, marketing, hotel management and the like do not qualify, nor do careers in the public or service sectors such as health care, banking, financial services and consulting. We are specifically targeting those women majoring in economics or finance we believe are most likely to become tomorrow's CEO's or CFO's of major manufacturing companies.

Population Reference Bureau	http://www.prb.org	We do have a "teacher-in-residence" this summer, under another foundation grant. She is working on a series of lesson plans and articles for our website, using Census data to show how the population and neighborhoods of Washington have changed over time. We have an active program producing material for use in secondary schools and college courses, mainly in History, Geography, and other Social Science courses. We also regularly produce reports and web materials on the changing demography of the school-aged population (for example, on the AmeriStat website we produce with the University of Michigan www.ameristat.org). We are hoping to organize a conference on school-district enrollment projections next year. So though I don't now have a position open to which I would invite applications, I would love to have students at Teachers College with an interest in demography keep us in mind and check our website periodically (www.prb.org) Our International Programs department also frequently has fellowships, for work on projects mainly involving communication about population growth, reproductive health, reproductive righ
