The Literacy Education minor is open to students majoring in a field which leads to teacher certification at the early childhood, elementary, middle or secondary level. Students must be admitted to the Teacher Education program. Students from related disciplines such as Communications Science and Disorders may also be admitted. The program consists of 20 credits, which consists of required and elective courses. Students who complete the Literacy Education minor are eligible to apply for the North Dakota Reading Credential, which enables teachers to work as K-12 reading specialists.

Required Courses:

Course	Units	Grade
T&L 335 (for Middle Level & Secondary Education majors only) Understanding Readers & Writers	3
T & L 409 Reading in the Content Areas (Spring)	3
