Business

Applicant Social Issues

Caitlin discussed the possibility of changing the venue of the applicant social this year and having it in a larger space. However, it was decided to remain at Dr. King's home to keep the more personable environment. The group also discussed having a designated ending time for the social.

Workshop Update

Joanna reported progress made with organizing the suicidality workshop. The tentative date is set for Saturday, April 28th and the cost will be $75-$100 for students and $100 for faculty, depending on the total costs for the workshop. She also discussed the possibility of turning it into a two-day event, with presenters on Friday evening from the Fargo/Grand Forks area and the larger-scale event on Saturday.

Alumni Contacts

Mark and Caitlin volunteered to begin working on the alumni database. They plan to organize a database with each graduate's current position and will contact Dr. King to see if he has any former clinical student contact information.
